When I was a youngster, Agnes looked forward to my visit to the old home site. She was six years older than me, and she always wanted to play the game of "School". She played the role of teacher while I was the student. She enjoyed relating this story whenever I was in the audience to share a few laughs.

She and Bennie were always the best of hosts when we visited them in Metairie. When Uncle Charles and Aunt Eunice were available, the visit would quickly become a party with plenty laughter.

The Leonard Guillory family was a close-knit group of people who all had a very good understanding of the value of a dollar, and that trait was passed on to me. World War II caused a lot of problems for this family.

We invite you to check our entries in Ancestry.com regarding this family.

Hey Mel, and Tony, so sad about your Mom. If anyone's going to miss her, it's going to be me. Talked to her every week, until she went in the hospital. I feel lost now that I cannot talk to her on the phone. My prayers are with both of you.
