There are no words for how much I Loved our visits or you..or how much I'll miss being able to know if I need your smile it will be there.However that infectious smile is forever burned in my memory and your patient laugh in my heart. There is no truer friend that ever lived.. and as a song has said you Beat me there.. We'll laugh together again someday.Until then my friend pray for us here because you earned your wings long ago.. you were just coasting until we were ready to let you fly.. our hearts will love you forever
