“ Brittany Rose 🌹 Your missed so very much!

You brought so my happiness to us! I still don't want to accept that your not here! You were our shining star! You lit up this world! I always looked forward to seeing you and your beautiful children! Now we talk to you in our prayers. Your babies are so well behaved with very good manners! You did an amazing job teaching them! My dear sweetheart we will miss and love you forever! See you in heaven when God calls me home! 🙏❤️🙏

“ I miss you so so much Brittany. This is not how it is supposed to be. I was not supposed to bury you, you were supposed to bury me like 25 years from now. We were supposed to grow old together. You were supposed to see your babies grow up to become wonderful adults. You were supposed to be a grandmother and spoil your grandbabies like you always bitched at me for doing! I selfishly want you here with us but I know you are truly free of suffering and at peace now. I wish I could have been stronger for you. I wish I could have taken, all the shitty crappy hands you were dealt in life, one right after the other, away from you! I wish I could go back to that day and not let you leave my my house! I wish...I wish....I wish! I want to call you every day and talk to you about how devastating these last couple weeks have been. I want you to bounce through my front door and say “Hey mama what you doing? Make us some coffee” Like you did everyday. I want you to come write on the wall calendar again so we can laugh and laugh about it! I want to hug you! I am going through the motions but the physical pain in my heart is unbearable. I see you in my dreams every night and when I wake up for a brief second I am happy, then reality hits me! I know I have things left to do here before I can see you again. I just don’t know how long I can endure this hell! I will be as strong as I possibly can and do what I know you would want me to do: help your babies get through this and make sure they always know how much you loved and adored them. One day, I know I will see your beautiful face smiling at me, until then I will continue missing you every second of every day! You are our guardian angel now. I take comfort in knowing you are watching over us! I love you my baby girl!

“ Brittany was a kind soul, always said what was on her mind and was always quick to give a hug if needed, she was like an older sister to me, always supporting me through good times and bad, always showing her love to me regardless of whatever was going on, giving me advice, and giving me hope. I love you brittany, and i know you're looking down on me and everyone you held deep in your heart. I promise to always keep your memory alive, and to always make the best of whatever situation im in, knowing that you will always be there with me. Rest In Peace and may god be with you always. - Addison Davis

“ they say god made the entire world we walk on in 7 days , and oddly now it makes perfect sense how it took 9 months in the womb to create you britro . Every detail of who you are was extremely well thought out, every detail was so special, and so loved . Tough love at times yes, but tough love is still .. love . first of the details, let's talk about that big ass head of yours, you always thought about the feelings of others before your own, caring about how you made others feel, believing everyone deserves more than a second chance, you always forgave, even when it was tough, even when some didn't deserve it . it's hard for me to not hold onto shit sometimes & you taught me how to let shit go for your own happiness and peace , life is too short. My stubbornness hated that trait of yours because I hated hearing about or seeing those who once hurt you because I'm protective of you, but now Im doing more understanding than listening. You taught me that people shouldn't be locked in a box because the things they once did or said because it doesn't allow them a chance to grow . Yeah, big ass head, but that even bigger heart struck us all the most. Your aura lit up every room you walked into, your smile and laughter was contagious, every time with you was a good one . Your voice was one recognized from a mile away as you cheered literally everyone on , unless they were the enemy , someone messing with someone she loved , then she's was a fighter you did not want to experience ! People knew better than to play with her or those she loved ! she was loyal to the core. That's how I know she didn't just up and leave us, she's here still, just as our guardian angel instead. We just have to learn to experience life with her in a different way, I know you all still feel her love.

I'm sorry that you felt that the weight of the world was on your shoulders, I'm even more sorry if you felt alone in carrying that weight, you most definitely weren't. I don't think you even perceived how many lives you touched and how many you really had beside you, the love all around you . Im sorry your head became your enemy rather than your loving friend . This wasn't who you were, but a demon you faced, and although it may appear to some that you grew weak, you taught me that strength doesn't always look strong, strength doesn't always feel strong, but the fact that you were STRONG through every battle you faced, and that strength remained inside of you. strength & love is was who you were , and who you continue to be in our lives. We know you love us all, and we all deeply love you too and know your love and lessons are enough to last us the rest of our life time, until we see you in the next. Keep loving and watching over us from this life to the next top. I knowing you're Singing, dancing, resting, and loving in paradise Brittany Rose . 🌹❤️👩🏻 “Nanny the shining light in the darkness. She could put a smile on anyones faces. She was truly an amazing person. It hurts to think that i will never be able to see your big blue eyes and pretty smile again. Going to your house and stuffing our faces with junk food , watching movies and just having fun. I will miss that forever. You had such a beautiful soul and you'll be missed by so many.
