You shed a light on this world, your presense here was a happy one, the memories you shared will always stay in our hearts, your smile was genuine to everyone. You will be missed but not forgotten. The day will come when we will see you again. It will be a happy day and for now our days will not be sad for we know you are resting In your father's arms, this world was just a temporary home and now you are in the forever happy home, no pain, no sadness, so we go on now because we must. Until we meet again, the hole that is left in out hearts will heal because we believe the journey has just began for us, you made us want to live right, do right because God is a good God, they way you left was heartfelt but we must not ask why.we must hold on to God's unchanging hands he knows best, you made me personally a better person, I just have to learn to live, laugh again not without you because you live in my heart there you will always be, I remembered the last time you smiled and wave goodbye at me something shook me like thunder inside my veins if I only knew you was really saying so long not goodbye. Now I know I am holding on to that and that is a promise.
