And when that times comes we will have so much fun doing the things that we did when you were here with us girls. My heart is just so broken and I am not sure how to move on in my life with out you here but I will do my best to.I was always a daddy`s girl and I will always be your lil girl. So daddy say hi to all of our loved ones that have gone before you and tell them all that I love and miss them. Until we see each other again R.I.P. now daddy you have no more pain.
