“ My best memories of you MawMaw are all the times you would bring me a new dress you had just finished making!! I loved getting NEW dresses from you as a little girl.... You always made me the BEST dresses!!! It is so hard to have to say goodbye but I am so glad I could be there with you the last few days!!! It meant more to me than I can explain to be able to be there for you and help when you needed us most!! I will ALWAYS love you and ALWAYS miss you!!! Tonight on our way home I was explaining to Nevaeh and Trae that you are now an angel in heaven smiling down on us from above and she looked out the window at the stars smiling saying she could see you keeping a watch on us and that she would always feel safe cause your up there watching us!! I LOVE YOU and will MISS YOU VERY MUCH EVERYDAY!!!!

“ It's a sad day here in the Larche residence today. We lost a mom, mother-in law, mawmaw, and everybody's best friend. I wish I could post all of the fond memories on here but time and space would prohibit it!! She was never "mother -in law" to mesimply Fay (well in the early days Ms Fay) I first started dating Bonnie when I was 16 and always remember a pot of fresh brewed sweeeeeet tea on the stove. I couldn't wait to get there after school and scoop out a mug of that stuff right out of the pot. I was even asked if I loved Bonnie or was just there for the tea! The fact of the matter was I loved everyone in that household and I think most reading this knows the rest of the story !! I loved all of the 40 plus years she was part of my life. We all will truly miss Fay's funny whitty style which she still possessed until she couldn't speak anymore. When Kim showed up at the rehad with food she had bought for her she told Fay please eat this I paid 12 dollars for it. Her response was "I'll give you 24 dollars and you eat it" Gotta love it ! She will truly be missed here but we are relieved she is now with family she missed so dearly

It's so difficult to put into words how I feel about my mother-in-law. She was a one-of-a-kind lady who gave her love unconditionally and was so much fun to hang out with. She had to be the COOLEST mom ever and I have always wished for a mom like her. I want to share two stories about what she meant to me. Most of you know I was married to her only son, Johnny, for 10 years after 'dating' him for 4 years. Many years after we split up I was at a family party and introduced Miss Fay to my 'date' as my 'ex-mother-in-law'. She grabbed me and admonished me for saying that. She told me "You will ALWAYS be my daughter-in-law and don't ever forget it." Her feelings were hurt that I had introduced her as my 'ex' MIL!! It made me feel so loved and still a part of a family I have known and loved since I was 16 years old. THAT's the kind of person she was! It makes me tear up just trying to put this into words.

The other story is from just a few years back when I finally remarried. I had a small wedding with lots of DIY decorations. When I was making a list of who to give corsages to I didn't even think twice about putting Miss Fay's name on the list. I've always thought of her as my family. It was a nice surprise when her son-in-law, Brian, sent me a message thanking me for giving Miss Fay a corsage and making HER feel special at the wedding! He told me it meant so much to her that I did that and I was so touched that it was important to her. God I'm gonna miss you Miss Fay!!

Kim, moms leave a big hole where so much has been. No words I could say will take away that gnawing emptiness you feel. I just pray God quickly fills you with his grace and protection so that somehow you begin to feel less pain.. You will some how come to remember only wonderful memories and begin to know the hurt never goes away, but gets a little less painful as each day passes. I have offered up a Novena for you and your family, that God will carry you through the difficult times you are embarking on. Love you guys and know you're not alone.

So sorry to hear about your mom. Just know that you now have the funniest, most awesome angel anyone could ever ask for. Mrs Fay will definitely be miss by all that knew her. Remember to talk about her often and remember the good times. That's what seems to help me the most. Love you and I'm here if you need anything.

“ She was the Fun and Forgiving mom . Me and Kim were caught smoking and skipping school. She hid behind a parked car and scared the hell out of us . She was laughing while she fussed us. She raised a wonderful family of caring loving children. Thank you Ms Fay for the wonderful memories . You will be missed by many. Forever in my heart, JoAnn Becnel Passalaqua
