“ Frank was a hard working man. I always enjoyed visiting with him when he was doing our yard on Sycamore Drive. He made me laugh when telling stories. He liked to talk about his pets and really loved them.
I'm very sorry for your loss. He's gone too soon.
Sincerely

Hello Diane or whoever you are. As Frank's son, i am guessing you are referring to the sisters that never acknowledged him. To answer your next question pertaining to the "mother and father," there is a major difference between parents and people who just produce children. Thank you for your condolences to Frank's wife and have a great day. F.Y.I check your mother's obituary, didn't she have three sons? Yeah.... Have a great day lady.

This is Emmett Joseph Morales, Franks oldest brother. Of course he had parents, who were never there when he needed them. On Alberta's Obituary the three brothers names were never mentioned , but you know that. As far as I know I only had to brothers. This was not the place nor the time for you to start trouble, but I am not surprised.

No this isn't the time or place. But I was always there for Frank.Remember the boys stopped talking to there family,that's all I have to say.

Diane, this is Frank's niece and Jojo's daughter. I find it hard to believe you were "always there for Frank" because I don't even know who you are. I will say this, however, on our side of the Morales family, we try to show respect for our deceased loved ones. We both know there is more to the story, but this is definitely not the venue, so please keep any further thoughts or delusions to yourself. Thank you and God Bless.

You were there for Frank?? You haven't spoken to him in 40 years!! Your mom died and her sons were not listed in her obituary.. was that ok? Who made the obituary?? Her daughters did I am sure. Your comment is one of the reasons your brothers detached from your family years ago. They were sick of the drama and non caring parents and sisters. I can only speak for JoJo.. he tried contacting your mom and dad more than once years ago with no response and it was his wish for his family not be in his obituary.. why should they when the men weren't in his mothers. Funny.. you haven't felt the need to speak to Frank in many many years but yet felt the need to post on his obituary. Tacky and insensitive.

If you have anything else to say you know where I live. And for the record Peggy you are Tacky and insensitive.

No Diane.. you are. When your Mother passed away did any one of us post on her obituary wall when her sons weren't listed?? No we did not!

IN CLOSING..... As far as the family, my grandpa and grandma (term used extremely loosely) on my dad's side were poor examples of what parents are suppose to be; if you can even call them "parents." In closing, check your voice mail because he was thinking of you before he died. No response needed.

I did check my voicemail, but he had already passed. I would have called him. He knew where I lived and I told him he was always welcome

Unfortunately, I am unable to answer for him and I am not a spiritual medium or whatever term you would prefer to relay the message. Good day.

All those wonderful family gatherings just won't be the same, but at least he got to enjoy that latest baby. Lots of love to all the Morales family and especially Evana.
