“ *My beautiful Jennifer. I looked up to her as a child and even as a teenager. That's just how cool and admirable she was. As an adult, I've always admired her strength through struggles and how well she nurtured and loved her children. Forever I will cherish the memories of sleep overs, choreographing moves as we jumped into the pool, our first N*Sync concert, sock hops, every holiday, rides to work, having deep conversations especially the most recent ones. She has always been and will forever be my girl, my beautiful cousin. ❤️*

“ Two fond memories I have of Jennifer, besides her laugh. The first was when you was but only a little thing. I came over to babysit you 3. I was playing with you on the couch when your Mom came out the shower with a robe and towel wrapped around her head. You looked at her, then me, back at her, then again at me, you held your hands towards your Mom and said "Momma!" It was so funny how you had to take a double, triple look to figure out which one of us was your Mom! And we aren't even twins! My second is of when Kim had cancer, you took me to go donate blood. You got tested, to donate some of your own for her, but your iron was too low. After I got done donating, we went to Starbucks to eat lunch. That was a very special day for me, we were disappointed you couldn't donate but we still had fun! We had a little one on one with each other and that felt good for both of us! . You had such a good heart, a beautiful laugh, smile, soul! Your going to be missed so much! It was an honor to be able to watch you grow into the loud, proud, crazy and loving person you became to be. Love you always, miss you forever. Love Aunt Lori, Uncle Put and Brandon.
