“ I love you and miss you so much Jennifer! I wish i could just have one more night to talk to you. No more talk about LSU and Ga. No more hearing your sweet voice . No more Camden calling me in the middle of the night. Just truly heartbroken. To the family of Jennifer, I am in constant prayer for all of you. May God watch over all of you and guide you in the right direction as well as give you all the strength to cope. Jennifer was a wonderful mom. We love you Camden and Maddy..

*Jennifer was very strong in life, fighting for both herself and her children. Now she can rest. My heart goes out to her children.

Just from watching her insatiable advocacy for her children over the years, it seems Jennifer will rest in TRUE peace only knowing that someone will continue to carry that proverbial torch for her....for her children.

I pray for her children, and for the amazing souls who will pick up with her children where she left off.

Please know, family, that you are in our hearts, because we all know that filling Jennifer's shoes will be rewarding, indeed, yet no easy task.

Heartbreaking loss.....RIP, Jennifer. :(

This is so heartbreaking. Jennifer showed concern, knowledge, and compassion when my son was thought to have Mito. When he was diagnosed with another rare disorder, she was still there offering prayers, support, and friendship. She was a true warrior for her children. There is no doubt God is saying, "Well done, my good and faithful servant." May she rest in eternal peace with our Lord and Savior. May God bring much love, comfort and strength to Camden, Madison, and her family. Jennifer had a beautiful soul. +
