“ Johnny Boy! This is so hard and just unbelievable! I don't want to say goodbye, but I know your with your mom, dad and grandparents who loved you so very much! I have so many memories of you, always smiling even through your pain. Thank you for always being there for me, and always being one of my biggest fans lol.... You always had my back! And I hope you know I always had yours!! I remember our last visit....sitting in your truck talking for hours. I love you so very much, as so many others do, especially your family and son.. Be at peace my baby...fly as high as you can...and I will see you when I get there! 💙

“ Johnny was one of the neighborhood kids. He suffered great loss losing his mom and then dad at such a young age. I remember him doing a paper route early on to help out the family. We later got him on and worked together at the convention center. Johnny was good people and always had a huge smile to offer.

One night after work, I remember him saying he was going home to cook. I asked him what was he cooking? He told me bbq chicken. So every night on our way out, I would ask him and he was always cooking chicken something or a rather. Like Forrest Gump except with chicken. Lol

Apparently they scored some huge steroid chicken thigh quarters, so they ate ALOT of chicken. 🤔

Johnny had a heart of gold. When he thought my sis needed help fixing her porch, he offered to help. I never forgot him offering from his heart.

One of the last times I saw lil Johnny he looked good and his biggest proudest accomplishment was his son. He truly adored him and felt that he finally did something right for sure.

I'm sorry Johnny is gone. He is loved and will be missed dearly by so many, including the neighborhood aunts. (Me)

I'm sorry to his friends and family and especially sorry to his son. Prayers during this difficult time.
