“ Ken was a joy to be around, always laughing and nice to us. He certainly knew jewelry. I will never forget this prayer he once said at a holiday meal....."forgive me Lord for being hasty, it's time to eat this chicken pastry". Love & condolences to you all. From Brantley and Sue.

“ There are many memories, but there is one in particular that I’ll share because it’s a funny one. Grandad was very meticulous in his ways and routines. He had a very specific way of furnishing the house and organizing photo frame and knickknacks around the house.

One day before he came home from work, I told Stacie that I was going to rearrange the house. Just changing little details that I knew he would notice, immediately. He walked in the room, stood there for a second and said something along the lines of “what did y’all do!?” I made him walk around the room and guess everything that I had touched.

He guessed it all right down to every little detail including the tassels on the lampshade that were moved slightly out of place. He made me laugh often and I’m so thankful for even these little silly memories of him.

“ Ken Clay and I worked together at Friedman's Home Office in Savannah, Georgia. When I first joined the company Ken was Division President over North Carolina and that Northeast area, David Hoyle was a Senior Partner (District Manager) for Ken. Ken later was moved back to Savannah and was promoted to Vice President of Real Estate. Ken and I attended many high level meetings together, as well as a number of Field Meetings and Christmas Kick-Off Meetings. Ken was a Real Jewelry Store Manager and Jewelry Chain Executive. I enjoyed a number of lunch dates with Ken. Working in Savannah, I also became friends with Ken's wife, Stacie. He was a fine gentleman who always reminded me of my Grandfather Lepper and I told Ken that a few times, the man could dress and always had his shoes shined and a smile on his face. May Brother Ken Rest-in-Peace and may his memory serve as a blessing. Mike Lepper...
