“ The first time I delivered Junior's route a sweet little old lady, right at the beginning of the route, turned her garden hose towards me and snarled, "You're not taking Junior's place are you?" I wouldn't have dared. Never have I seen such devotion, love, and loyalty between a letter carrier and the people he served. The little old lady should have known that no one could ever have taken his place - on his route, or in the hearts of all who ever met him. By simple example, he taught me so very much about caring for people. My love and prayers go out to all his family and heaven has got to be a little bit nicer for his being there. Kevin Cahalan
