“Words cannot explain what we are all feeling, some more than others. I just hope everyone takes a moment and reaches out to your family, near or far, and say hello if nothing else. We never know what tomorrow has to offer. My best friend and his family, no matter how mad they were at each other, always told one another "I love you". I was never the type to tell another man, I love you. As i have gotten older, I'm not scared to speak those words. I encourage you all to profess your love for one another. Try to build loved ones up instead of tearing them down. Think before you speak. I don't think that I ever told any of my nieces or nephews that I loved them and that is my fault. But I guarantee you that I will not fall short there again. Telling my sisters to say "tell the kids i love them" doesn't count. Let them hear you! Take nothing for granted, because tomorrow isn't promised. I am a work in progress, and God knows that we all are. Just try not to have the same regrets that I do. Do not let my nephews death go in vein. Love a little more and argue a little less. I love you Mason and I'm sorry that I wasn't there more. I'm sorry that I checked up on you, but I didn't check in on you. I will do better now and I will check in on you more. I'm sorry for everyone's loss, family and friends. R.I.P.

“It's been a long day without you, my friend and I'll tell you all about it when I see you again.”

This song as been playing in my mind the last few days. I'm still in shock. I will always remember you as the sweet and silly kid that I grew up with and who became the younger brother I never had. I have no doubt in my mind that you made it to Heaven. You will be missed by many and your memory will live on in the hearts of many who love you, including me. My heart and prayers go out to Brooklyn, Mrs. Michelle, Parker, Eric and the rest of your loved ones. I will see you again someday.

“ I'm not very good with new people and Mason knew that so I'll try to say this tomorrow if I get the chance at all but if not here it goes. I'm so sorry to the Babb family that I never got to meet you. I know many people say they were close to mason but truthfully I was though that doesn't matter. I'm sorry I didn't get the pleasure I just thought I had more time though that's also not important. Just understand I'm am so thankful I got to have Mason as a bestfriend he constantly reminded me I was beautiful when I didn't feel it and we both reminded eachother we loved eachother and I'm so glad I got to have him as a part of my life. I'm sorry I didn't have more time with him but most of all I'm sorry you all didn't. He was a blessing to know and I'm very sorry for your loss. This is the hardest for you all and I'm praying every night.

“ Mason, I've been knowing you since freshmen year. I remember in Balthazar's class there was a substitute and you and Holden were messing with my boyfriend on Instagram. That was the most hilarious thing. And then last year I saw you every morning all school year and you would say a joke that would make me laugh even when I didn't want to laugh. All your corny jokes were so funny. I can't believe you are gone it seems so unreal. Just be sure to watch over us and protect us. RIP angel. We miss you more than you know. 💕💕

“ Mason, you always had a clever joke to make or some new interesting thing you discovered the night before that you were so willing to share with anyone willing to listen. I did not know you on a very deep level, but have known you since middle school and have always appreciated how intelligent and hard working you were and that you knew we had to do what ever had to be done to be successful. We all miss you so much Mason. Rest easy.

“ Hey Mason :) it's already so weird that you aren't sharing your intelligent ideas with our class, or giving me a piece of gum when every other person told me no. You always had a way of making us laugh, whether it was computers, or some game, or challenging Mr Plasse. I miss you dearly, and my heart is with your family. Please watch over us. Rest easy bud ❤️

“ Hey Mason. I've known you since we were little!!! :). You were the only person to invite me to their birthday parties, and I remember those parties! We played football in your front yard, and ate cake. One year, we went to laser tag and I wailed on you with friendly punches! Last summer you were my best friend. You cared enough to listen while everyone else was tired of hearing my crap. I also remember talking to you for hours and hours over the phone, just talking about anything. You always begged me for monster energy drinks, and I'd always get you one :). We saw Spider-Man together at the movies, and played goat simulator in your room! It was hilarious. I remember when you were messaging Josiah things I didn't want you to, so we wrestled over the keyboard! You were cracking me up so much. I remember staying with you at tlc just to talk, and I kept torturing you by tickling you. It was too funny. I miss you so much, my friend... I miss my friend every day. But you never fail to bring a smile to my face, even now. Things are hard. But. You stayed strong for us, and that is the least we can do for you. We love you so much Mason.

“ Mason,

We had some great times in ROTC. Ever since meeting you freshman year, I could tell we were going to be friends. You made my ROTC class fun, and you made PT on Fridays so much more enjoyable being able to run with you. My most memorable Friday for PT was when we ran the entire mile in step with each other. On our out of state trip we roomed together and stayed up late shining our shoes and getting our uniforms ready for the next day. You made sure everyone was shaved and hair was good, and even gave people a trim with your razor. On bus rides you would tell me about your programming, and all the coding languages you knew. I would get so confused but just listening to how interested you were in it made me happy. Sophomore year you joined the drill team and were naturally amazing at it. We'd always compare our ribbons and awards and see which others we wanted to earn before we graduated. Friday, our last conversation was about ROTC and the year to come. I miss you Mason, life really won't be the same without you. You have made an impact on my life, and school has been so weird without you.

*Love,
Matt*

“Mason, it seems like it was only yesterday that you and me were laughing together. It hurts so much that your gone, but I know that I'm gonna be strong. I love you so much that no word in any language could express how I feel. There are so many memories of us, that I don't know where to start, or if I could even pick a favorite.

I think the one that will always stick out is when you came to me and gave me the biggest hug and called me your brother when mine was leaving for basic training. And that's what we'd always call each other, and that's what we still are.

I love you. Rest In Peace buddy.

Love, Tariq.
