“ I am sad to know that Naomi has died. She was TRAC's Assistant Director when I was the Director. She was an incredible support to me, and she was very intuitive in diplomatic affairs, especially, when coordinating the International Conference on Higher Education held in Innsbruck, Austria. This conference was one of her legacies since she was instrumental at its inception in 1992 until its final conference in 2013. Her diplomatic skills saved the day more than once. Its success can be attributed to her commitment. I was glad to see her accept the Director's position when I retired. It was my privilege to have worked with her.
