“ Dad,

You will always be my first hero. There are so many memories.... I'll never forget when you would bring me to Saturday dance classes when I was a little girl. Before we would leave, you would sit me on the chair and brush off the bottom of my feet before putting on my tights. I'll never forget going to work with you on Saturdays... I would lay under the cars with you and pretend I'm fixing them too... I'll never forget going shopping EVERY Saturday morning and begging you to buy me one of the little toys in the machine. I'll never forget you taking me to Tastee Donuts to buy a dozen glazed... then begging you to buy me the one with sprinkles... you always caved in. When I was a little girl, you always brushed my hair for me when I would get out of the bath because it was so long and would tangle easy. Everyone else would hurt me when they brushed it. You never hurt me. It was like you had a magic brush. I remember when I had a runny nose, you would hand me your cloth handkerchief and let me blow my nose on it. You always folded it back up and stuck it in your pocket.... ewwww. LOL

*You were a GREAT father. I love you
