*My brother was the protector of our family. If he loved you he loved you. He was not big on expressing his feelings outwardly but he had that special smile and laugh that would light up a room. It always was special that him and I was born on the same day. Never forget him getting us chocolate milk from kings milk machine way back in the day or getting in trouble at st James the major church because my cousin denny with my brother ronalds encouragement played oh when the saints go marching in on the church piano and sue and I dancing around till the priest came and put us out. Guess we got there way too early. Lol. Anyway I love you Ronald. Till we see each other again.
